

Solo Pastor/Church Planter,

Westminster Presbyterian Church (PCA), Vincennes, is searching for a pastor who is willing to take on a church planter's role. We are looking for a man who is gifted in the areas of preaching, shepherding, and evangelism; aware of the particular challenges of small town/rural ministry; and committed to the amount of time it takes to revitalize a congregation in such a setting. The church can commit $25,000 annually toward the planter's compensation. The planter would be responsible for fundraising the rest of his compensation.

Vincennes is a southwestern Indiana town of 18,000 people. It is a predominantly blue-collar community facing a changing economy's typical challenges. The largest employers are the local hospital and a two-year university. However, there is a large Toyota manufacturing plant approximately 30 minutes from town, which employs people from all over the region. The median household income is roughly $35,000. Like most small towns, there is a mindset of practical help and love toward neighbors.

The town is historically a nominally Roman Catholic community. Most Protestant churches in the community would be defined as broadly evangelical and baptistic. Westminster is the only distinctively Reformed presence in the area, allowing for great opportunity to bring the Reformed faith's beauty to this community.

Westminster is an established church with two ruling elders and an average attendance of around 30 every Lord's Day. We are committed to the Reformed faith, as defined by the Westminster Standards. We place a priority on the means of grace and fellowship within the covenant community. We own our building, which is located within a residential neighborhood in Vincennes.
