

IPC Memphis
A New People for a A New Memphis

Ministry Position Openings

IPC Memphis has two full-time positions available. We are looking for a Middle School Assistant Director (female staff) and a Student Ministry Associate or Assistant director (male staff).

The Middle School Assistant Director will spend a majority of time focused on planning and implementing weekly and annual programs (Large Group, Small Groups, 1/1s) and pursuing our female students.

The Student Ministry Associate Director will spend a majority of time floating between senior high and junior high ministries in coordination with the Pastor of Student Ministries, and will have regular opportunities to teach large group. Additionally, the SMA will help with the planning and implementing of weekly and annual programs (Large Group, Small Groups, 1/1s) and pursuing our male students. This is a non-ordained position, but candidates must be in the process of, or beginning formal seminary education with the goal of ordination in the PCA.

Both positions are full-time, with competitive benefits (health care, vacation, assistance with further education), and are open to fill now.

IPC's student ministry is a thriving ministry within our church. We have a very large core group of students who live throughout the city of Memphis. Our students attend over 25 different schools, and come from a variety of different types of families. We grew spiritually and numerically during COVID, and there is a lot of potential and optimism about the future. Our church has a unified staff and elders who are committed to loving what Jesus loves and loving whom Jesus loves.

Interested applicants can email Brad Robson, Pastor of Student Ministries for more information.
