CHRIST CHURCH PRESBYTERIAN

Our Philosophy of Ministry

Christ Church Presbyterian exists to gather and grow a community of disciples who live for the glory of Christ and the good of the city.

This mission has guided our church since its founding thirty years ago. We are an urban congregation committed to these guiding principles in all our ministries:

Gather... We believe that the Great Commission of the Lord Jesus Christ (Matthew 28:18-20) calls us to be both a gathered and gathering community. The gospel of grace brings us together, regardless of class, gender, or ethnicity. The same gospel of grace compels us to share the good news of salvation through Christ alone with our friends, neighbors, and community.

Grow... We take seriously the vow that members make at the baptism of each covenant child: “Do you as a congregation undertake the responsibility of assisting the parents in the Christian nurture of this child?” The church therefore seeks to assist Christian parents in teaching teens the ways of Christ and enabling them to serve the church.

A community of disciples... We believe that the call to know Christ is a call to be part of a community called the church. This new community has a shared identity as disciples (i.e. learners and followers) of Jesus. Therefore, we deeply need one another as we seek to follow Christ together. Through the ministry of the Word, sacraments, and prayer, we grow in our love for God and one another.

Who live for the glory of Christ... We believe that “the chief end of man is to glorify God and enjoy him forever.” In a world which gives glory to every created thing, the gospel counter culturally calls us to find our greatest delight in the Creator himself. Therefore, we labor to show others the grandeur, beauty, and worth of God.

And the good of the city... The second greatest commandment is “you shall love your neighbor as yourself” (Matthew 22:39). Regardless of whether our neighbors believe as we do, we are to joyfully share our time, resources, and lives with others. Therefore, we proactively seek to find opportunities to know, love, and serve the city of Atlanta in which God has placed us.
